GASPOOL trades balancing energy via TTF

Berlin. Starting October 1, 2014, GASPOOL will procure control energy from TTF (Title Transfer Facility) in the Netherlands.

As part of the balancing energy model, it also plans to procure external balancing energy via exchanges with deliveries in adjacent market areas. By taking this step, GASPOOL will be able to procure gas within the second tier of the merit order list at better prices, in a quality-specific manner, and most of all locally.

To ensure supply security, this makes sense especially in GASPOOL's low-caloric natural gas area. Participating in the TTF enhances the diversity of the company's balancing energy portfolio.
